Difficulty: Beginner

Working time: 1 hour

Spring brings with it many special occasions, such as christenings and confirmations. Making a unique gift for these special events can be a meaningful gesture. With a few simple materials, you can create a beautiful candle with a personalized name bracelet. This gift is sure to be one of a kind!

Create a personalized christening candle with a name bracelet bracelet tie and place on the candle

The first step is to tie the bracelet. Take the leather cord and tie a knot in the middle so that the beads cannot slip later. Now thread on the letter beads to create a name or a beautiful message. Once all the beads have been threaded on, close the bracelet with another knot.

Now cut the bracelet to the desired length. Leave a little more ribbon at both ends so that you can attach it well to the candle. Make a small loop at each end and push a pin through it.

You can now use the needles to attach the bracelet to the candle. The Position can of course be chosen individually.

Shaping candle decorations from wax

To decorate the candle, you can cut various elements from wax sheets. Use either a scalpel, cookie cutter or other shapes to realize your design wishes. I opted for stripes and circles and created these with the scalpel and cookie cutters.

Place the cut-out elements on the candle and press them down firmly. Make sure that the candle looks nicely decorated when the bracelet is removed so that there are no large gaps.
